Assessment Activity 3 – Hands on stuff!

The training is going well.....although you think the time is right to get the coaches & volunteers a little more active.

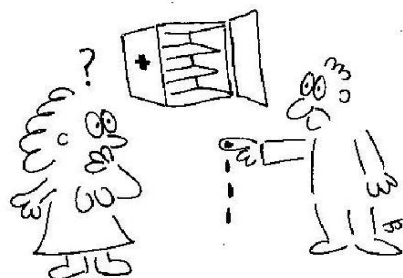

Understanding the theory is fine – but you know it’s important that everyone involved at the club can actually deal with injuries & illnesses if they occur.

You decide there to run some practical sessions whereby they can demonstrate how to deal with casualties suffering from 3 types of injury and or illnesses – hopefully by themselves (M2) but with support (P3) if needed

You design a form to record their competence on, and to kick off the session give a demonstration of how it should be done!

You need to make the demos good.....remember – you are the expert here!

Resources for support	Possible ways to present assessment
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Activity 11 – Is there a doctor in the house?• Activity 12 – Bedside manner!• Activity 13 – Record keeping• Activity 14 – Let’s see what you have remembered & ouch!	The verb is to demonstrate therefore the options are limited. The attached is an ideal way to record achievement....although alternatives can be used.
