Abdul Aziz Mustafa

- His dad was killed in 2003 by government forces
- His mum paid a people smuggler to transport him out of Sudan when he was 15 years old
- He had to be locked in a shipping container for eleven days and did not know where he was being taken
- He was left at a service station near London with no money or food

"I arrived at Victoria Station in London and spoke to the police. A passer by who spoke Arabic heard us talking to the police, and stopped to help. He told me I needed to go to the Home Office in Croydon. He bought me a train ticket, water and a sandwich. It was an act of kindness from a stranger I will never forget".

IT'S NEVER TOO LATE TO HAVE A HAPPY

CHILDHOOD.
