September 20 2016

Dear Parent

We are getting in touch to tell you about a new series of events which we have introduced this year and to invite your son/daughter to the first event. Our intention is that 'ISSP 7-8' is a termly event for years 7 & 8 running from 7 to 8pm where high profile speakers will enthuse and inspire your child through a 1 hour lecture. We are delighted that our first speaker is Damien Cruden, artistic director of York Theatre Royal.

'All of York's a Stage! How we bring stories to life: the role of the Theatre in the community'

Come and listen to Damian Cruden, the artistic director of York Theatre Royal, explore how the theatre has become nationally renowned for its role in both telling York's stories and involving so many citizens in its amazing projects including The Mystery Plays, Blood and Chocolate, and Fog and Falling Snow.

If you are interested in Theatre, drama, the social history of York or the construction of vibrant and involved communities this is the lecture for you. Come and be inspired!

Date: Thursday 6th October
